

IELTS 3.0 TRAINING COURSE

(ONLINE LEARNING)

This fully online, self-study general English course aims to provide students with basic language skills equivalent to Elementary English (CEFR A1+). Whilst it is equivalent to IELTS band score 3 level, it is not expected that students will sit for the IELTS exam at this stage.

Fourteen topic-based units help students master vocabulary by subject, with each unit divided into the separate language skills of reading, writing, listening, speaking, and vocabulary and grammar.

Each topic includes approximately 2 hours of teaching video containing exercises and activities, with each video lasting approximately 20 minutes. To be successful, you should actively work through each video, pausing the recordings at given points to undertake activities that reinforce the learning.

Learning to speak a language well involves learning to think in that language, which means practising what you learn. In particular, you should find time to practise your speaking skills with a study partner, family member or friend.

Programme Highlights

Speaking, Listening, Reading, Writing:

The four main skills are practised through a range of activities, listening exercises, reading passages and elementary writing tasks. The topics are grouped by themes to facilitate language learning, and are supported by the following vocabulary subjects and grammatical structures:

Grammar:

Wide range of basic grammar, such as the verb to be, articles, possessives, present simple tense in its various uses, modal verbs, past simple, irregular verbs, negative and question forms, comparatives and superlatives, present continuous, quantifiers, future form with going to, present perfect.

Vocabulary:

Countries, nationalities, jobs, everyday objects, family, time and places, activities, frequency, transport and travel, food, life events, entertainment, shops and services, clothes, personality, animals and nature, numbers, celebrations, weather and seasons, school, universities and education, technology and communication, and world culture.

Programme Options

There are two course options:

a) On-demand video:

Access to the learning videos and accompanying reading texts and audio scripts. Students work through the video-based course in their own time.

b) Tutorial package:

Provides full access to the on-demand videos as in Option A, but also includes five tutorial sessions for additional guidance and speaking practice.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the course, students will be able to demonstrate the following skills:

Speaking: Be able to answer questions, make introductions, order food and drink, arrange an evening out, ask for goods and services, make suggestions and offers, and make telephone calls.

Listening: Be able to understand subject, context and meaning through listening to audio and watching videos of conversations, interviews, discussions, life stories and people interacting.

Reading: Ability to understand meaning from text by reading a range of passages on topics such as nationality, travel, popular music, food and diet, business, shops, animals, seasons, language and learning, and communication.

Writing: Be able to complete forms, write introductions and descriptions of people, describe places to eat, arrange an evening out, promote an event, and compose text messages.
